

A GUIDE TO

NORTH CAROLINA STATE PARKS

YOUR STATE PARKS

The State Parks described in this booklet are the result of planning and development over a number of years.

Endowed by nature with ideal sites that range from the shores of the Atlantic Ocean to the tops of the Blue Ridge Mountains, the State has located its State Parks for easy access as well as for varied appeal. They offer a choice of homelike convenience and comfort in sturdy, modern facilities . . . the hardy outdoor life of tenting and camp cooking . . . or the quick-and-easy freedom of a day's picnicking. The State Parks offer excellent opportunities for economical vacations—either in the modern, fully equipped vacation cabins or in the campgrounds.

We sincerely believe that North Carolina's well planned, well located, well equipped and well maintained State Parks are a matter of justifiable pride in which every citizen has a share. This is earned by your cooperation in observing the lenient rules and leaving the facilities and grounds clean and orderly.

Keep this guide book for handy reference—use your State Parks year 'round for healthful recreation and relaxation!

S. 70 at the western edge of Morehead City. Mailing Address: Fort Macon State Park, Atlantic Beach, North Carolina. Telephone: Morehead City PArk 6-3775.

DESCRIPTION

Fort Macon State Park, bounded by the Atlantic Ocean on the south and Bogue Sound on the north, is on the barrier beach of Bogue Island and extends some two miles westward from Beaufort Inlet. Within the park is historic Fort Macon, a hundred-year-old masterpiece of architectural beauty, seized by the Confederate forces in April 1861, and captured by the Union forces on April 26, 1862. Since early Colonial days, the location of the present fort has been the site of fortifications for the protection of Beaufort Inlet.

No less interesting is the natural beauty of Fort Macon State Park. The high dunes, covered with the waving plumes of sea oats, old cedars picturesquely shorn by the wind and salt spray, live oaks, redberried yaupon, the green marshes along the sound, the ceaseless breaking of the ocean on the beach, are all a part of a coastal area of unusually high scenic values.

The park is populated by a host of seashore birds, including gulls, terns, sandpipers and the like.

Fort Macon, established in 1924 by transfer from the Federal government, was the second North Carolina State Park to be acquired. It was established and is maintained for the three-fold purpose of protecting and preserving outstanding natural and scenic values, protecting and preserving Fort Macon, and providing recreational use of natural resources.

DESCRIPTION

Hammocks Beach State Park includes all of Bear Island, covers 890 acres and has over three miles of ocean front. It was established as a state park to preserve and protect outstanding scenic and natural features, to provide recreational use of natural resources, and to provide opportunity for the study of its natural features.

Unusually high sand dunes, a beautiful ocean beach unmarred by the hand of man, the broad expanse of the Atlantic Ocean, and the sweep of the marshes lying between the island and the mainland all combine to make Hammocks Beach State Park one of the most beautiful and interesting seashore areas in North Carolina. It offers unexcelled opportunities for peaceful relaxation and active outdoor recreation.

Gulls, terns, sandpipers and many other seashore birds may be seen in the park as well as a number of other bird species which are migrants or seasonal visitors. The marshes shelter still other species of birds as well as muskrat, otter and other mammals.

FOR YOUR ENJOYMENT

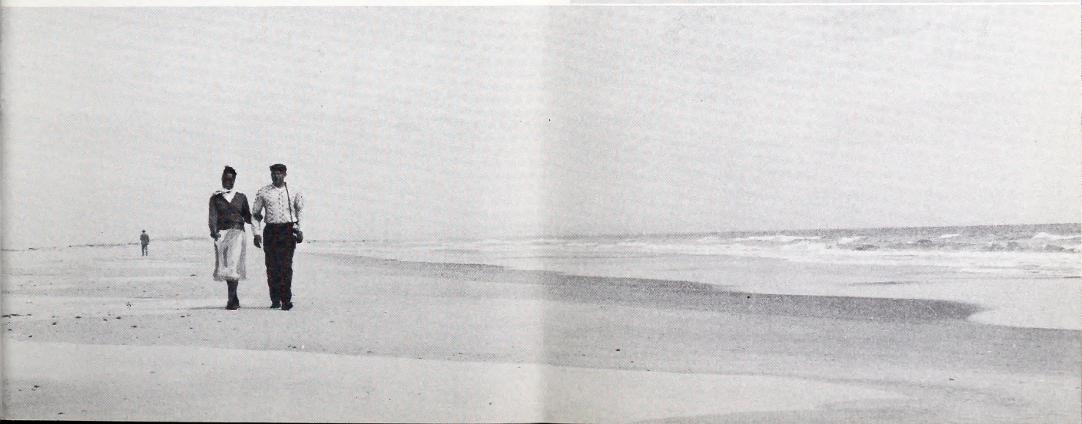

Fishing—Surf casting in ocean and fishing in sound.

With one of the finest beaches in North Carolina, Hammocks Beach State Park will offer wonderful opportunities for picnicking and swimming when initial development is completed in 1962.

HANGING ROCK STATE PARK

LOCATION

Hanging Rock State Park is in Stokes County, four miles northwest of Danbury, 14 miles from Walnut Cove, and 32 miles north of Winston-Salem. Accessible over paved roads from North Carolina highways 89 and 66. Mailing Address: Hanging Rock State Park, Danbury, North Carolina. Telephone: Danbury LYnnhurst 3-2841.

DESCRIPTION

Located in the Sauratown Mountains, one of the most easterly mountainous areas in the State, Hanging Rock State Park offers a variety of features, both natural and man-made, that afford interest and pleasure. Here is natural beauty in profusion. Rugged mountain terrain, clear sparkling mountain streams, waterfalls and cascades, a cool inviting lake nestled in the hills, extensive growths of mountain laurel, rhododendron, stewartia, and other flowering shrubs, beautiful interior and distant views—all these await the visitor.

Included in the 3,865 acres of Hanging Rock State Park are Hanging Rock and Moore's Knob. From Moore's Knob, elevation 2,572 feet, one may look across the valley of the Dan River, with its patchwork of tobacco fields, to the Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina and Virginia. From Hanging Rock, miles of the upper portion of the Piedmont Plateau are spread out before the eye.

Hanging Rock State Park lies on the Piedmont Plateau, an ancient erosion surface underlain by highly altered rocks. Most of the rocks were originally sandstone, but, under conditions of great heat and pressure, they were changed to massive quartzites and foliated rocks, such as quartz schist and quartz mica schist. Hanging Rock, Cook's Wall and Moore's Knob owe their greater height to the fact that they are composed of quartzite—a type of rock with superior resistance to erosion. Under the combined action of heat and cold and water, the softer rocks have been eroded, leaving the quartzite to form peaks. Also interesting geologically is a rare and peculiar variety of sandstone, itacolumite, known locally as flexible sandstone, which is flexible and may be easily bent.

The wealth of plant life at Hanging Rock State Park is particularly interesting, not only to the botanist but, because of the beauty of flower and form of many of the species, to the layman as well. Over three hundred species of plants typical of the Piedmont and of the lower mountain ranges are represented, some of them quite uncommon. Common mammals include gray squirrel, opossum and raccoon.

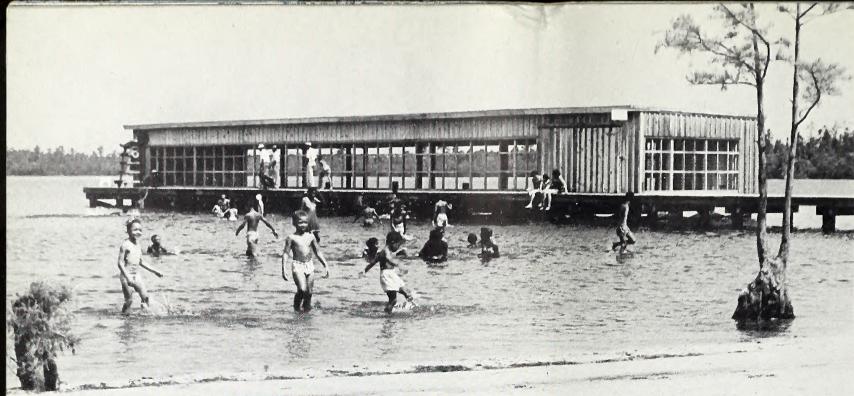

FOR YOUR ENJOYMENT

Swimming—Bathhouse and lake with sand beach and protected water area. Open about June 1 through Labor Day. Boating—Boathouse and boats for rent on lake. Fishing—Bass and panfish in lake. Picnicking—Two picnic areas each equipped with picnic shelter, tables and benches, outdoor fireplaces, water and toilets. Refreshment Stands—Cold drinks, sandwiches, candies, cigarettes, souvenirs, etc., for sale at bathhouse from about June 1 through Labor Day.

Camping—Tent and trailer campground with individual camp sites and central washhouse and toilets. Vacation Cabins—Six completely equipped vacation cabins. Hiking—System of foot trails to points of interest. Nature Study—Nature trails. Naturalist on duty June, July and August. Lookout Tower—Stone lookout tower on Moore's Knob. Park Roads and Parking Areas—Paved park road system to all developed public use facilities. Parking areas serving picnic areas and bathhouse and lake.

The beauty and coolness of the Sauratown Mountains make swimming, picnicking, hiking, camping and other outdoor recreation at Hanging Rock State Park especially enjoyable. The views from Hanging Rock (upper right) and Moore's Knob are striking.

Jones Lake, one of the natural lakes said to have been formed by the impact of meteorites on the earth's surface, has an area of 224 acres and is the most important natural feature. With its placid surface and cypress bordered shores, it forms a beautiful landscape picture.

The park contains a great variety of trees and shrubs. The most conspicuous tree is the stately long leaf pine with its distinctive long needles. Other trees include loblolly pine, pond pine which grows in the pocosins, juniper (white cedar), black gum, American holly and turkey oak. ers, wax myrtle, gallberry and fetter bush with flowers like those of the lily-of-the-valley.

MORROW MOUNTAIN STATE PARK

LOCATION

Stanly County, seven miles east of Albemarle. Accessible over paved roads from North Carolina Highways 27, 73 and 740. Mailing Address: Morrow Mountain State Park, Route 2, Albemarle, North Carolina. Telephone: Albemarle YUKon 2-4402.

DESCRIPTION

Covering 4,135 acres in the Uwharrie Mountains on the banks of the Pee Dee River, Morrow Mountain State Park is one of the outstanding scenic attractions of the Piedmont.

Its decidedly mountainous appearance is accentuated by the sharp differences in elevation between the hills and the surrounding countryside, and is emphasized by the heavy growths of mountain laurel in the stream valleys and on the hillsides.

From Morrow Mountain, Tater Top, Attaiway, Sugar Loaf, and other hill tops, there are wonderful panoramic views that extend for miles. The broad expanses of the Pee Dee River flowing placidly along the eastern boundary of the park, the hills ranging to the north and east, the rolling farm lands dotted with grain fields and stretching westward from the hills, are parts of the picture that greets the eye—a picture which is full of the beauty of nature at any season. In the spring, the fresh new green of the pines and the white of the dogwood bloom on the hillsides herald the new season. In the fall, the hills are clothed with the flaming beauty of autumn foliage.

Morrow Mountain State Park is part of an area most interesting geologically. The Uwharrie Mountains, which form a part of what remains of the Ocoee Mountains, are a portion of the oldest mountain range in America—far older than the mountains of the Appalachian System.

Within the park is a great variety of plant life. Dogwood, redbud, red cedar, American holly, oaks, maples, pines are but a few of the larger species under which grow many kinds of shrubs and herbaceous plants. Plant associations of both the woods and the open field are present.

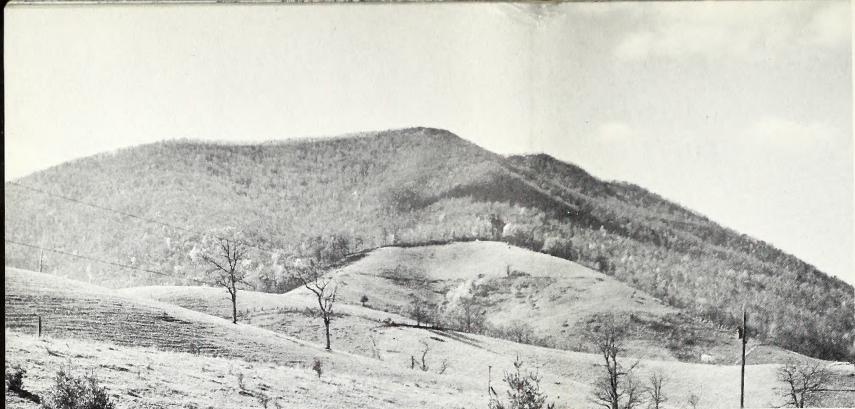

Deer, gray squirrel, raccoon and opossum are among the most frequently seen mammals. Turkey, quail, and many species of songbirds inhabit the park.

FOR YOUR ENJOYMENT

Swimming—Modern bathhouse and swimming pool. MOUNT JEFFERSON STATE PARK

LOCATION

In Ashe County, four miles from Jefferson and the same distance from West Jefferson. Accessible over improved road leaving U. S. 221 midway between Jefferson and West Jefferson.

DESCRIPTION

Mount Jefferson State Park covers 474 acres and includes the peak and slopes of Mount Jefferson. Fine panoramic views of the country for miles around may be seen from various points within the park.

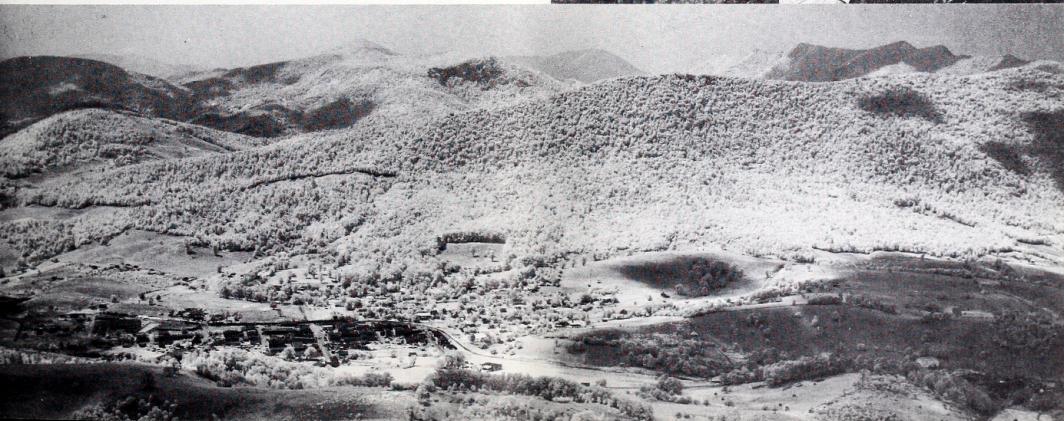

Mount Jefferson is a steep sided northwesterly trending mountain that rises abruptly for more than 1600 feet above the surrounding terrain. It lies along the drainage divide of North Fork and South Fork of New River, and these drainage systems had important influences on the size and shape of the mountain. This and other high mountains in the area are but remnants of a broad high plateau that existed throughout much of Western North Carolina in past geologic times but which has been greatly dissected as a result of the weathering of the underlying rocks and their removal by stream action and other erosive forces. Mount Jefferson has formed as a result of the resistance of the underlying rocks to these erosive forces.

The park includes a wide variety of forest trees, shrubs and flowers. At the lower elevations, sugar maple, red maple, black locust, ash, hickory, tulip poplar, birch, basswood, chestnut oak, white oak and the various red oaks are found. The upper elevations are almost completely occupied by chestnut oak with a heavy undergrowth of purple rhododendron and mountain laurel. From June 10 until July 1, the mountain is particularly attractive with this profusion of flowering shrubbery. Other flowering trees and shrubs are service berry, bush honeysuckle, azalea and dogwood. Wild iris, jack-in-the-pulpit, violets, galax, mosses, ferns and huckleberries are plants of interest that can be found in the park.

FOR YOUR ENJOYMENT

MOUNT MITCHELL STATE PARK

DESCRIPTION

Mount Mitchell State Park is truly in "the land of the sky"—no place in the park is less than a mile high. The dominant feature is Mount Mitchell, the highest peak in Eastern United States, towering 6,684 feet above sea level. The views from Mount Mitchell, and from other parts of the park, are among the most beautiful and magnificent in the Southern Appalachians. Protected within the park are several hundred acres of virgin balsam and spruce forest.

The plant life of Mount Mitchell State Park, like the climate, is more that of Canada than Carolina. The forests are almost pure balsam and red spruce stands, but some yellow birch, paper birch, fire cherry and mountain ash may also be found. Shrubs include two species of rhododendron, red elder, mountain maple, and wild hydrangea.

Mammals include the black bear, deer, red squirrel, woodchuck, wildcat and civet cat. Ruffed grouse and the Carolina junco (snowbird) are found in the park throughout the year, while robins, winter wrens, song sparrows and other songbirds are summer residents.

Mount Mitchell State Park was the first state park to be established in North Carolina. The 1,224 acres included in it were purchased by the State in 1915 to protect and preserve Mount Mitchell and the outstanding scenic and natural values of the park, and to provide outdoor recreation and vacation use.

PETTIGREW STATE PARK

LOCATION

In Washington and Tyrrell Counties, on the shores of Lake Phelps, nine miles south of Creswell. Accessible over paved road from U. S. 64 at Creswell. Mailing Address: Pettigrew State Park, Creswell, North Carolina. Telephone: Columbia, N. C., 4423.

DESCRIPTION

Pettigrew State Park, named after General James Johnston Pettigrew, Civil War hero, who is buried just outside of the park, is on the shores of Lake Phelps in the historic Albemarle section of the low level Coastal Plain.

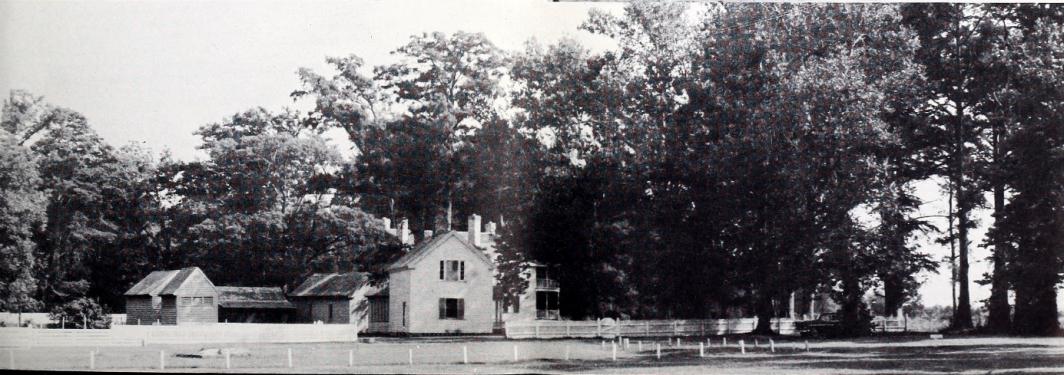

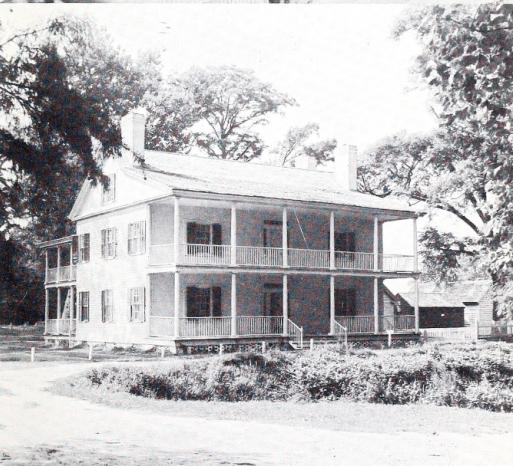

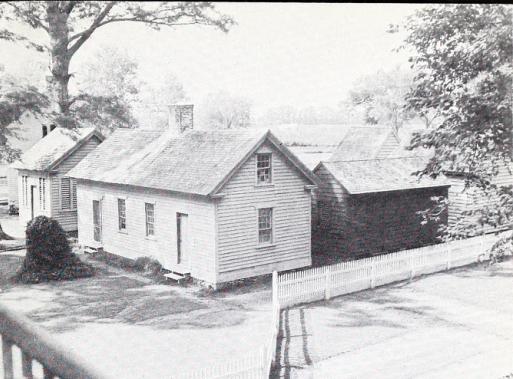

The park is located on portions of two fine old plantations, "Bonarva" and "Somerset Place," which flourished from the late seventeen hundreds until the Civil War. Somerset Place was established about 1787 by Josiah Collins and two associates. Josiah Collins had emigrated to the United States from Somersetshire, England, and after brief residences in Boston and Halifax, North Carolina, settled in Edenton where he established a thriving mercantile and shipping business and a prosperous rope walk. Bonarva Plantation was established about 1789 by Charles Pettigrew who was the first Bishop-elect of the Episcopal Church of North Carolina. To bring these and the other plantations in the vicinity to full cultivation, many miles of canals had to be dug to convert the swampy land into fertile fields. The canals, all dug by slave labor, are still in existence.

Among the remaining buildings is the manor of Somerset Place. This house, an interesting example of Greek Revival architecture as it was adapted to Eastern North Carolina, was built on the shores of Lake Phelps by Josiah Collins III in the early 1830s. The Pettigrew House, Bonarva, begun in 1789 by Charles Pettigrew and enlarged by Ebenezer Pettigrew, was burned in 1860.

State-owned Lake Phelps, one of the most beautiful of North Carolina's natural lakes, adds greatly to the natural beauty of the park. A magnificent cypress growth along the lake shore is not the least of the attractions that await the visitor. These great old trees, which have seen the rise and decline of the large plantations, form a most attractive setting for the lake, which has long been an angler's paradise. In the 16,600-acre lake, second largest natural lake in the State, black bass and panfish abound. The lake is a wildlife sanctuary and thousands of waterfowl may be seen in it during the winter months.

FOR YOUR ENJOYMENT

Boating—Boat pier and launching site for boats. Row boats for rent. Fishing—Panfish and bass fishing in Lake Phelps. Historic Structures—Somerset Place manor house, and other buildings and features of Somerset Place. The grounds, walks, drives, some of the buildings and part of the gardens have been restored. Parking Areas—Paved parking areas near Somerset Place and at boat pier.

Somerset Place portrays the large plantations of the Old South. The kitchen and outbuildings (upper right), the mansion (opposite) and the grounds have been restored and are in excellent condition. Boating (opposite page) and fishing in Lake Phelps are popular sports.
